TO BE MISERABLE FOLLOW THESE RULES.

C. H. AVERITT, OF FULTON, ARK., ESTABLISHED FOR RUNNING A DISORDERLY HOUSE.

C. H. Averitt, the coal dealer and manager, has been arrested on the charge of running a disorderly house in which several women are connected with him for Monday.

Complaint was made against Mr. Averitt and his house, which place was conducted by Frank Crews, Crews alleged that he visited the place and found the house to be disorderly, two men tried to rob him but he succeeded in freeing himself and escaping the place. He immediately notified the police, who came and arrested him to raid the place. Two of the women were arrested and tried before Judge Carr, who held them and found them guilty of disorderly conduct.

They gave their names as Lorraine and Myrtle Finch and claim to have been in the employ of Oscar Blythe who was enticed to the place and robbed of his watch. The disorderly house was conducted in the wood yard of the Averitt's on Main street—Fulton Leader.

You will never want to take another dose of pills if you once try Chamberlain's Stomach & Liver Tablets. They are easier to take and more pleasant in taste than any other medicine for the stomach and regulate the liver and bowels. For sale by Cowgill & Cowill.

If you wish to be miserably off and imagine you are worse off than with those of your wealthy neighbor and wish you were in his place.

Pray for your blessings and remember all your trials.

Don't feel obliged to work, but consider that the world owes you a living.

God is above the world and think you could make it better.

If there are any poor and suffering about you, don't lift a finger to help them but let some one else look after them.

Never say a kind word to a child, but if you do it will work yourself.

Never smile if you can't help it, but frown on every one you meet.

Don't give to any charitable object, but give to your money, you may need it some time.

Don't thank anyone who does you kind deed, but blame him for not doing it.

Choose for your associates those who are like you, like yourself as possible and keep law and sunshine you can keep out of other people's houses.

If you follow strictly all these rules you will surely be miserable yourself and help to make other people so.

ATTENTION FARMERS,
Swine, the drugstore has a fine grade of Machine oil at 10¢ per gallon,

IT IS A FORMIDABLE INDICTMENT.

In the published outline of the bill, acting for an injunction against the six great coal companies, which is to constitute the Beet Trust, which is to be filed in the U. S. Circuit Court in Chicago, the trial of the United States Attorney General Knox, there is an indictment of the concerns in question, formidable enough to warrant the hope of success.

The fact that the eminent lawyers who framed the bill, will be led on the side of the coal companies, is a fact which the action desired on the part of consumers and retailers is a proceeding to verify the aggregation of the six great truth of the alleged Beet Trust will be developed.

There is no wish for oppressive action. If the six great packers, who are the chief cause of the present prevents competition and places consumers and retailers at their mercy, this truth will be made plain by the trial, and the more so, as the trial will be the defendants will not suffer and the people will be well content. The trial of the case, if the fact of a trust comprising the trust must be broken up and its individual members compelled to do so, will be a great success.

There is no wish for oppressive action. If the six great packers,

A COMMISSARY EXCHANGE.

In a recent trial the breakaway which President Roosevelt gave to Senator Hanna and Postmaster-General Payne was merely the informal return of a courtesy, same as is practiced among the heads of state in foreign countries. Senators in Congress, Postmasters-General have appetites just like other people. Some of them eat more than others, but that is not the point. The Commissary especially has a digestion that ginger snap and ice cream soda will make an impression on.

FIXING THE WHEAT MARKET.

The New York banks are beginning to look in a tight money market to note that looks have been exercised. And this is a subtlety but doesn't it seem odd that the problem that is causing trouble in the front just before the time for the wheat crop to move? Let us be sound and railroad rates firm for a time, and then when the wheat comes in, let the profit go to the men who can take profit with the money raised and the right market—and then when the time comes to the farmers.

MORO FORT CAPTURED

Campaign Against Sultan Bayan Was Successful.

A Hand to Hand Struggle in Four Lines of Ditches—One American Officer and Several Enlisted Men Were Killed.

Washington, May 5.—The war department Sunday received a cablegram from Gen. Charles G. Dawes indicating that the campaign against Sultan Bayan, the principal Moro fort, had been completely successful. The result was accomplished by a gallant assault on the principal Moro fort and its garrison after the number of the lead men had been killed. The cablegram, which was received Sunday afternoon, was as follows:

Adjutant General, Washington:

ARCHBISHOP CORRIGAN DEAD.

His Death Came as a Great Surprise and Shock.

New York, May 6.—Archbishop Corrigan died at 11:35 o'clock Monday night.

The death of the archbishop came as a great surprise and shock to those in the archiepiscopal residence, it was more so to the general public, for the death of the archbishop was not expected. There were no physicians of his acquaintance in the collection of the priests there would be no more bulletins Monday night. Up to 10:30 there was no evidence of collapse. In fact, he died at 10:40 talking with his secretary.

About 11 o'clock, however, the trained nurses who had charge at the bed side noted a change. According to indications the physician were telephoned for.

At the same time the archbishop's two brothers were summoned to the room, one as a number of priests. It was quickly seen by the physicians that he was dead. His last moments were peaceful and without evidence of suffering.

Heads of the two brothers of the archbishop, there were present in the room a dozen priests among them Father Iaville, rector of the cathedral, the Mexican bishop, Rev. Dr. Starz, Italian secretary to the archbishop, Father Curley, his legal secretary.

A FATHER'S FUNERAL.

Memorial Services Over Remains of Late Congressman Cummings.

Baltimore, May 3.—Congressman Andrew J. Cummings, a very popular man, died yesterday at his home in the Church home and infirmary in this city. The cause of death was pneumonia incident to an operation.

Washington, May 5.—In pursuance of the results of the recent election held in the House of Representatives, the members held over the remains of the late Representative Amos J. Cummings, of New York, in the hall of representatives Sunday afternoon. Only twice before, in recent years, has such an elaborate service been given to a deceased representative, twice on occasions of the state funerals of Representatives John Kelly of Pennsylvania and Representative Nelson Dingell of Michigan.

Amidst the entire of the house was present the speaker and the galleries were entirely inadequate to hold the thousands of people who had come to pay their respects.

At 11 o'clock Sunday evening the casket was removed to the residence of the widow.

The remains of Mr. Cummings are accompanied by the committee of the two houses, were taken to New York Sunday night.

THE QUEEN'S CONDITION.

Physicians Say There Is No Cause For Immediate Disquietude.

The Hague, May 5.—It was announced yesterday at 11 o'clock that Queen Wilhelmina had been prematurely confined at 6 o'clock.

Word to this effect was received at the secretary-general's office of the house of representatives at an early hour Sunday morning. Queen Wilhelmina had been admitted to the queen's household, said the queen suffered intense agony.

At 11 o'clock Sunday evening the casket was removed to the residence of the widow.

The queen's fever has not increased, and we are quietly and hopefully awaiting the results of a good night's rest for the queen.

GOD'S POTENT GIFT

Sermon on John 3:16 by the "Highway and Byway" Preacher.

Be Faith's Tabernacle or Abiding Lamp Ever Womans Half the Blessing as is Realized Through Jesus Christ.

Copyright, 1904, by A. N. Kellogg News-paper Co., Chicago, May 4.

"Truly, 'For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life.'"

The author of the astronomer tells us that beyond the vision of the natural eye there exist myriads of starry worlds, and we believe him even though we have never been privileged to see them. The author of the scientist demonstrates that in the water we drink and the air we breathe there are perfect swarms of queer and grotesque and hideous looking creatures. We take the glass and look them up and up the glass and as the beam of sunlight flash and glint through the clear crystal liquid it is hard to believe what the wise man says is true. Yet we do accept his statement as a fact of fact.

God's Word tells us that God's throne is in the heavens, and that the earth is His footstool, and if our spiritual vision is not hidden behind the clouds of flesh, then we can see that the earth is the tabernacle of the God who is. God, and man was not created for God, but for God. There is a brief and complete biography recorded by God. It tells us of his earthly career. He left the earth at the behest of God, and went where? To the mountains of Gilead, his dwelling place. Elijah, when his mission on earth was fulfilled, in the Providence of God, was wafted to the heavens in a chariot of fire. Elijah was the prophet who, in the name of the great God, in his hands to tell the story. The former pupils of Elijah, who doubted Elijah's story, went out to search for the translated prophet, but found him not, but found the chariot of Peter, James, and John on the mountains in Galilee to see the Lord in His transfiguration talking to that same Elijah, who so many hundreds of years before had walked through the land of Gilead, and warned the people of their sins and had destroyed the 450 prophets of Baal.

When Jesus began His public ministry the heavens opened, we are told by the author of the book that framed that un-en region, said: "Thou art My beloved Son, in Thee I am well pleased."

And Stephen, with his face lit up by the glory of the Celestial Kingdom, said: "Behold the Lamb of God, who takes away the sins of the world." And the great prophet in his hands to tell the story. The former pupils of Elijah, who doubted Elijah's story, went out to search for the translated prophet, but found him not, but found the chariot of Peter, James, and John on the mountains in Galilee to see the Lord in His transfiguration talking to that same Elijah, who so many hundreds of years before had walked through the land of Gilead, and warned the people of their sins and had destroyed the 450 prophets of Baal.

Then we come to the fact that he was carried into the heavens, and whether he was in the body or out of the body he could not tell, but he heard numberless things and delicate, thin, eye-like and ear-like, ear, heart, never have entered into the heart of man the things which God had prepared for them that love Him." Among the last declarations of Jesus Christ were words in which we find no comfort, except in the hour of deepest comfort, "In My Father's house are many mansions. If it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And I'll go and prepare a place for you. I will come again and receive you unto Myself, that where I am there you may also."

Surely from the beginning of the history of man, when Enoch stepped from the earth into the clouds, to the vision of John the Beloved, who saw the new Jerusalem being let down from Heaven, we have ample proof and evidence that the heaven is a real place, even though we can see it with the natural eye, and it is the dwelling place of God, and His Christ and the hosts of angels and the great company of the redeemed.

And so the last judgment of the world were laid, God prepared in His infinite heart of love to give to the world the rarest treasure of Heaven, in that that could not be enriched and that would honor Him. All Heaven was nigh when the time drew near that the Word of God, the Son of God, should become flesh and dwell among men. Abraham, who was promised that his seed should be as the nations of the earth be, was among the long list of patriarchs and prophets of the Old Testament who rejoiced with the Heavenly hosts in the gift which God was going to give unto men, the fulfillment of all the law and the prophecies.

Heaven's music burst upon human ears, the angels sang, the hill-sides, the aspens, the shepherds, the hill-sides, the hillsides heard the glad tidings that "unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord." They came and worshipped the young Child, and blessed Him, and their hearts as the long-promised Messiah. The wise men brought their gifts of gold and frankincense and myrrh. They made a homage before the innocent baby, who, when the learning of the world though they were, still here was a gift from the God of all knowledge, who made their hearts to be full of indignation to make them realize that the foolishness of God is wiser than men, and the weakness of God is stronger than men.

And thus from Heaven came the gift of God to earth, for God so loved that He gave. We are to talk of the potency of this gift, but we cannot pass the living motives of the heart of God, who made the world, and made His Son manifest unto His will, and loved in the beginning and has patiently kept on loving all through the ages, though man's heart has been so slow to respond. Can we understand that love? Can we so speak as to convey the love of God? The author of the Beloved disciple, who was nearest to the heart of Christ, could not fully understand, but exclaimed: "Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it does not yet appear what we shall be, but we know that when He shall appear we shall be like Him, for we shall see Him as He is." We cannot hope to fathom that love, but we shall understand, but we shall be like Him, for we shall see Him as He is."

And so with the pleasure seeker.

The drop of the morphine eater, each successive dose of pleasure must be intensified in order to secure the desired effect, and the Gomorrah of ancient times, and the notorious examples of Rome and Greece, show what end the pleasure seekers are after.

But in the secret of true happiness is found in the acceptance of God's Gift.

No tarnish ever dims the luster of that presence. No aching head and shattered nerves ever come in the wake of the happiness of dwelling in the presence of Jesus Christ, an angel of God, who, when he came to the grave of his son, crushed the soul with his afternoon, when Christ is the satisfying portion.

The potency of God's Gift is felt in every cell in the being of the soul. Why seek what the world can give when Heaven was emperored that all earth and Heaven, too, might respond throughout the air with the praises of Jesus Christ, the King of Kings? They, who with David have said: "Behold rather he a deacon-keeper in the house of my God, than dwelt in the palaces of the wicked," are today keeping in the palaces of the wicked, and the contemporaries, who rejected the rule of God over their hearts are awaiting in darkness their eternal banishment from the Lord.

They have come down into the midst of the world and are holding out, to whosoever will take, this Gift of eternal life through Christ Jesus. "What will you do with Jesus, who is called the Christ?" "How shall we escape if we are found in the day of judgment?" "The next time, now is the day of salvation." "Today, if you will hear His voice, harden not your hearts."

The love of God fills our hearts, we can begin to know something of the love of God, but we cannot fully know until we stand on the other side of the veil. In the great chorus, "I'm redeemed, I'm free, I'm a son of God," who was preparing to die for his only begotten Son as a sacrifice to the world.

There are beautiful pictures of human love running all through the life of Jesus, from the time he left Bethany to Mary with the alabaster box of ointment or Mary Magdalene, whose love for her Lord made her linger at the tomb and gave her the first kiss of the resurrection, to the time when he came to the woman at the well, when he said to her, "If you will believe in Me, you will have water from the fountain of life." And when he said to the woman at the well, "If you will believe in Me, you will have water from the fountain of life."

The potency of the gift of God begins to be realized as we slowly read the rest of our text. This gift is all comprehensive, from everlasting life to the moment of death, and the imagination of the one who tells the story of its wonderful potency, has passed away, and only the memory of the love of God remains. The love which could not fail to hold any thing with which it came in contact, has delighted and held the attention of readers for generations. But it is not the love of the world, but the love which used to which it came in the story book to every conceivable and inconceivable nook and corner of mother earth has performed its mission in fairy land and dream place to whom failed posterity of the story writer's heart. And where in history, prose or poetry will you find an equal to the story of the potency of the gift of God to the world?

David's rod, under the direction of God, could part the Red sea, could smite the rocks in the desert until refreshing waters gushed forth. The trumpet of the priests and the trumpet of the Levites, which was to blow low the walls of Jericho. The Gideon's band of three hundred could win a mighty victory over the hosts of the Midianites. The cry of a prophet could move the earth to stand still. David's shepherd's staff of a David could send crushing to earth the terrible giant and deliver from the oppression of the Philistines for a time, but the wonderful power of the prophet of God, who had all the gifts of God packed in his staff, had all in a living, thrilling moment. But the gift which God gave to the world nineteen hundred years ago is assaying the world more powerfully than ever before. And when we hear the achievements of the past wonderful century we hear it echoed on every hand that it is the result of the Light which God sent into the world to light every man to Him.

STATE NEWS HAPPENINGS.

ALAN-A-DALE.

The Colt Is Broken Down and May Never Race Again.

Louisville, Ky., May 5.—It is said that Alana-Dale, who won the Kentucky Derby Saturday, has been broken down again. Whether or not the colt is permanently broken down has not been definitely determined. The exact seat of his lameness has not been located, but the animal is in considerable pain. Thomas McLean, owner of Alana-Dale, says the horse will not start again at the Louisville meeting. After the Derby Saturday it was found that a tendon in his fore leg had given way from his trying to save his left knee, which has given trouble for some time.

STOCK FAILURES.

Three New York Firms Announced Their Suspension.

New York, May 4.—Three stock exchange firms, Offenbach & Moore, Henry Bros. & Co. and Lockwood, Thurd & Co., announced their suspension in the New York market at the opening of the session. The total liability of their joint liabilities is variously estimated at from $2,000,000 to $5,000,000, assets unknown, and in the opinion of good judges, a goodly portion are of doubtful value. No very definite statement was made concerning the parties most interested.

The day closed with the usual rumors of more failures, criminal prosecution and the like. The solventency of several financial institutions of standing was brought into question, but for the most part the market was held in suspense. A report was made to the authorities.

The market was seriously affected by the three failures, stocks breaking heavily at the outset, but the closing was fairly steady. Call money opened at 10 per cent, rising as high as 12 per cent, and closed at 11 per cent.

The failures were directly due to last week's serious decline in a number of industrial stocks. Two of this group, Rutland railroad preferred and St. Lawrence and Adirondack are regular losses in the stock market exchange. The market, including bond curiosities, Hickman Meadow, North American lumber and Paul and Stoye are power, or rather were more or less extensively dead in on the "board."

It was an open secret last Saturday that two or more concerns were involved in the decline of the Webb Meyer properties, and disastrous results were feared. News of the three failures came at the outset of the day.

Following announcement of the failures, many lots of stocks and a few blocks of bonds were bought and sold "under the rule" of the exchange for account of the panic concern. It was only in the last hour of the day that the announcement that Van derbilt interests had agreed to take up a block of those shares for a sum of some of the embarrassed speculators. There was practically no trading in the stocks of the companies assigned of any time value. It is Adriana Bush, and of Lockwood & Co., Edward J. Perine. Both assignees said they were unable to make even an approximate estimate of the value of the stocks assigned.

The rumor was that the assignees had agreed to take up a block of those shares for a sum of some of the embarrassed speculators.

THE WOMEN'S CLUBS.

They Voted Against the Admission of Colored Members.

There Was Suppressed Excitement During the Consideration of the Charter, Which Came First—The Candidates.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 6.—After a long discussion on the question of admission of colored women into the women's clubs, the anti-negro women won the day, when the convention voted overwhelmingly to accept what is known as the compromise amendment, agreed upon in New York, several weeks ago.

Upon the opening day of the convention it was evident that a spirit of tolerance would rule. There was absolutely no bitterness in the protest, only this, outside the convention hall, was a general, as it were, there.

The women, including colored, were the first to vote, and the bill, which will withdraw $17,495,429 among 151 cities. As far as could be learned, the bill covers into the treasury $1,565,000, the total amount carried by the bill.
